HOCKEY! SPECIAL! HOCKEY!

MANITOBA PUCK CHASERS IN FINE FETTLE

SPEED MERCHANTS REARIN' TO GO!

All roads lead to the Arena where tonight, the fastest game of amateur hockey this season will be staged by the visiting Manitobans and our own band of peerless athletes. Everything necessary to promise a great struggle is in evidence. Last week's thaw levelled the low-corners and the ice is in better shape than ever. The seat-sale has been most encouraging, for besides the student-body and their friends, large numbers of over-town fans will be out. This is all sport lovers' opportunity for comparing the class of Winnipeg hockey with what is acknowledged to be the best of Alberta standards.

Our guests arrived this morning, fresh and fit, after their victory in Saskatoon. Capt. Henry, when interviewed this morning at the hotel, was profuse in his compliments for the University of Alberta representatives, who had met his men at the train and arranged all conveniences for their comfort. When questioned about the team he became extremely reticent but modestly assured Albertans a battle royal tonight. Despite the fatiguing trip the whole team are right on their toes for the engagement. Concerning the festive celebrations, he was quite dubious in view of the fact that the team have been training for hockey and not for the more strenuous tea-fights and terpsichorean encounters.

The team itself is rated by no less an authority than Billy Findlay of the Manitoba Free Press as a Winnipeg Senior League aggregation of All-Stars.

Cunningham, in front of the nets, is a member of the Meds., holders of the Inter-Collegiate Cup 1918-19. On the ice he is impervious to the hottest bombardment, but we are led to believe that his stonewall defence is apt to weaken before the more insidious attacks of feminine charms.

Johanneson and Buckingham have played together on the defence for a number of years, and their styles dovetail to perfection. Johanneson is a regular "Falcon," one of the team which will represent Manitoba in the Allan Cup games this year. Buckingham is a "Peg" "Monarch" with a reputation for his wicked zig-zag rushes.

Anderson, Ernie, at centre, is one of the famous Fish Town septette, a brother of the redoubtable Jacko, and a man who has done more to carve Selkirk's niche in the Hall of Fame than Lord Selkirk himself. Ernie played last year in the Allan Cup games, and, this year, is going stronger than ever. The possessor of a sizzling shot, and speed that literally burns the ice, he is the most dangerous man on the visiting team.

Stevenson, at left wing, is playing his first year in the Senior League with the champion "Falcons." Seeing him in action, we are again reminded that good things come in small packages. He has all the ear-marks of a coming star, having speed, skill and science beyond need.

McCharles and Henry alternate on the right flank. They are members of the "Winnipeg" team in City Senior League. Both are so-called old-timers, but age has not dulled their skates, instead it has sharpened their keen eyes and quick wits. Anything they don't know about this pastime is yet to be discovered.

Field and Good are playing this year with the old red-shirted "Victorias" in the "Peg" League. As Coach Andrews says, "the hardest point to decide was who should be laid off the team." With men like Field and Good to act as substitutes the team is good for 60 fleeting minutes of lightening-fast hockey. It is indeed a privilege to see such exponents of clean sport in action.

CAPTAIN BILLY ESDALE

Commonly known as "Casey," the vigorous president of the Hockey Club, to whom credit is due for the formation of the Western Universities Athletic Union. Enough said! His winning smile and twinkling eyes are well-known to all of us.

This fair-haired captain of the 'Varsity squad plays left wing. Although his first season in senior hockey, Billy has shown that he is here to stay. This modest and unassuming fellow has worlds of speed, is a good stick handler and works well with the forwards. His season's work labels him as one of the most consistent and reliable men on the team.

PUT HER THERE MANITOBA

In these days of semi-professionalism, pseudo-amateur and mercenary sportsmanship, it gives The Gateway very great pleasure to announce the arrival in Edmonton of a body of the finest sportsmen that ever graced the West of Canada. Flushed with their recent victories at Winnipeg and Saskatoon, the hockey team of the University of Manitoba descended upon us this morning, thirsting for revenge.

We greet you, our visitors, not as enemies, but as friends. You are not strangers to us. We know about you and the glorious time you showed our boys when they ventured into the home of amateur hockey, and we hope to return, in part, at least, that lavish hospitality which you extended so fully to our men.

These are epoch-making days. Distances are vanishing. In the past, we, in common with all western universities, felt isolated and alone. But already we feel that our horizon has widened. Like the Three Wise Men who came out of the East with a mission to perform, you now penetrate the West, the heralds of a new and happier era for Western University sport. And who is better qualified to do so than men from Manitoba, exponents par excellence of all winter sports?

We want you to feel that the place is yours. If you don't see everything you want—just ask for it. We are all at your service. We will give you everything but the game. That is the only thing we will dispute with you. Remember that we are doing this because you are our University brothers; because you are from the 'Peg, where so many good things come from; and last, but not least, because you are good sports!

FLOREAT MANITOBA.

HARRY MORRIS

Plays centre. Although new to many fans, we want you to know that he is "some" player and a mountain of strength to the team. He has weight, speed and a wicked shot. He plays hockey every minute and can be relied on to deliver the goods.

Jimmie is the coach of the gang, and "some" coach. To him belongs the credit for the team work which was instrumental in beating Winnipeg in our first encounter. He has whipped his gang into shape and says the team is even stronger than then. Jimmie is proud of his proteges and says Manitoba will have to go some to beat them. We believe he's right.

JIMMIE BILL

BRUCE SMITH

Defence man. Works well with "Scottie" in their famous blocking tactics. Moreover, Bruce is one of the prettiest stick handlers on the team and his dazzling cork-screw rushes have been responsible for many goals this season. His splendid defensive tactics, combined with his spectacular "drives" places him in the class of the "finished" player. Bruce has always placed him 'Varsity first in sport and is a true Gold and Green product.

Plays on the defence; constitutes part of that impenetrable wall which so successfully baffled the Winnipeg speed artists. His ability to break up rushes with his "half-way across the rink reach" gives to "Slim" Morris that sense of perfect confidence which so endeared him to the Winnipeg fans. "Scottie" is no slouch, is "unsettled" and has speed to burn.

"SCOTTIE" MC ALLISTER

DOBSON

"SLIM" MORRIS

Dobson, right wing man, is the nucleus around which the team has been built. He is an old Allan Cup player from Queen's University, whom we are all proud to call our own. Without being spectacular, is probably the most effective man on the team. He sets the pace for the team and is aggressive at all times, leading the attacks, back-checking like a fiend, dashing here, there and everywhere, and already has the reputation of being the best goal-getter on the team. Moreover, his presence gives to the team that steadiness which is needed in an aggregation of speedy youngsters.

Goal-keeper. "Slim," who has been characterized as the robber of victories, the idol of fans and the dream of the fannettes, is probably the most popular man on the team. Although stretching well into the upper atmosphere, "Slim" has a knack of doubling his length so as to most effectively block everything coming his way. He gets into every corner and when the "rain" of shots is heaviest, sheds them much after the fashion of the duck shedding water. Then, when the "rain" has ceased, his smile rises from the nets like a veritable sun poised on a human question mark.

NINETEEN TWENTY !

Nineteen Twenty saw the formation of the Inter-University Hockey League; Nineteen Twenty saw the big Inter-University convention at Des Moines; Nineteen Twenty will see the organization of a western Canadian College press association and Nineteen Twenty will probably see the Alberta Basketball team tour the Eastern Universities and play for the Canadian College Championship. Never has there been a year in the history of the universities of the prairies, when there have been so many Inter-University meetings. In days to come, the coming editors of The Gateway will point back to Nineteen Twenty as the year in which real inter- varsity relationships came into being and they may also point back to it as the year when the University of Alberta looked about itself and convinced itself it was an institution that need not bow the knee to anyone.

Inter-University development is bound to bring a wealth of benefit to all the institutions. The exchange of ideas is invariably followed by change and usually progress. In the transferring of ideas, the university paper plays a very important part. Graham Spry, editor of The Manitoban, is sponsoring a college press association which will have some kind of telegraphic communication between the different colleges. This means that the college weekly (or perhaps daily) will be able to print timely news of other colleges.

Inter-University sport, however, is where the greatest inter-university interest lies, and as a means of developing real university patriotism, real true sportsmanship, there is no better way. As a means to purge athletics of the rowdiness, unsportsmanship and the taint of semi-professionalism, the inter-university league has no peer. That Manitoba crowd that repeatedly gave the Alberta yell when their own team was desperately fighting an uphill game, did much for real true sportsmanship in western Canada.

Perhaps the most extensive tour that has ever been planned by an athletic team in Canada is that of Alberta's undefeated basketball stars, who hope, if they win the western championship, to meet the winner of the eastern inter-university league. A petition is at present in circulation pledging the students to financially support such a tour and the committee behind the petition are hoping for seven hundred and fifty names by Tuesday next. All students who are sincerely interested in clean athletics and its encouragement and in increasing the prestige of Alberta will have to get behind this thing or it will fall down. This year is a crucial year and the opportunity may never occur again.

Whether the teams go or not depends largely on the attitude that the individual students take during the game. If you are behind The Gateway in its attempt to give a little "culture" to the eastern colleges, get your name on the petition.

MC GREGOR

CLELAND

This son of the Highlands still possesses the old clan spirit and fights for 'Varsity much as his ancestors did for their land of the heather. He is a good skater and stick handler, and is in the game from the drop of the hat.

Ralph is an old stand by, who has played on 'Varsity teams before. As a hard worker, Cleland is in a class of his own. His bull-dog qualities and stick-to-it-iveness have contributed much to the success of the team this season.

AN APOLOGY

The Gateway regrets that it is unable to supply pictures of the Manitoba Hockey team. Lest it be thought that The Gateway is intentionally discourteous to the team from Manitoba, it wishes to announce that The Gateway made an attempt to secure the pictures of the Manitoba team from the Manitoban, but was unable to do so. A formation of a college press association will probably obviate such difficulties. However, to the 'Toba team and to the students of Alberta, The Gateway makes its apologies.

PROHIBIT CHEERING AT GAMES

Boisterous cheering will be prohibited at Western Conference basketball games, according to a recent ruling. The ruling states that in the event the spectators become boisterous the referee may penalize the captain of the home team with a technical foul.

Toronto is in the middle of a discussion as to whether they shall have a professional coach for their rugby team. At present interested graduates have coached the team from pure love of the game, but there is an element in the University that thinks a paid coach would give better results. McGill has a paid coach and they won the Inter-University Rugby league quite handily this year.
